

NO FURTHER STEPS UNTIL ENVOY LIND MAKES HIS REPORT

President and are supporting him in his present efforts. I think with a few exceptions, there is no disposition to draw party lines. I think that is true of both Republicans and Democrats and the committee and in the Senate generally.

The President manifested a strong desire to have the co-operation of the committee and of the Senate and frankly said he would be very glad to have any suggestion from them either as individuals or as a body, and would welcome their assistance. The Senators seemed gratified by that frank statement on his part.

While there is a small element in this country that would like to see war, the large majority of the people believe it most earnestly and thoroughly sympathize with the desire of the President to avoid it.

There is no secrecy on the part of the President as to the general purpose of his program. He has in view, and his general purpose is to bring about a settlement of the Mexican situation. He is not at all desirous of making a party issue of it. He is not at all desirous of making a party issue of it. He is not at all desirous of making a party issue of it.

His great responsibility. There never was a greater responsibility on a man than now rests on the President of the United States. He is in a position to make a great mistake. He is in a position to make a great mistake. He is in a position to make a great mistake.

Secretary Bryan was at the State Department for several hours to-day, but except for the messages confirming Huerta to resign his office, and that any representations would be to call attention to earlier promises for a free and constitutional election, pointing out that recognition by the United States must be withheld until such elections take place.

Secretary Daniels announced to-night that the cruiser Tacoma had been ordered from Newport News to the east coast of Mexico to take aboard American citizens desiring to leave the turbulent Southern republic. Many Americans have found refuge on board the battleships of Rear Admiral Fletcher's squadron, but as the battleships can go into but a few of the larger harbors it was decided to dispatch a vessel of light draft to drop into shallow harbors along the coast.

The Tacoma will proceed at once to Norfolk for coal and then steam southward, probably to join the battleships off Vera Cruz.

Americans Are Removed. Washington, August 10.—Safe removal of American citizens desiring to leave the danger zone in the vicinity of Empalme, Mexico, was reported to the Navy Department to-day by Rear Admiral Corvick, commanding the American Pacific fleet from Guaymas, Mexico.

The refugees are being taken care of on the cruiser Pittsburgh, and the supply ship Glacier will be sent to the United States to take aboard American citizens desiring to leave the danger zone.

"The local authorities," reported the admiral, "have delivered over L. H. Morrison to the commander of the Pittsburgh for transportation to the United States, and William Zierick, now being taken care of on the Glacier, will go north on that ship. The consul made all arrangements for the transportation from Empalme to Guaymas for Mrs. G. C. White and Mrs. H. I. Martin in order to take them on the

No Promise Held Out for Cooler Weather

Washington, August 10.—Forecast for the coming week: The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the American Continent and the adjacent oceans is such as to indicate temperatures below the normal during the week in the Northwestern States and on the Pacific Slope. High temperatures will be prevalent the first half of the week in the Southern Plain States and the lower Mississippi Valley, followed by lower temperatures in those regions Thursday or Friday. Warm weather will remain during the week in the Gulf and South Atlantic States, with moderate temperatures the first half of the week in the region of the Great Lakes, the Upper Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic and New England States, which will be followed by warmer weather in these regions after Wednesday. In the region of drought, namely the Middle Mississippi Valley and the Middle and Southern Plains States, temperatures will continue high during the first half of the week, while during the latter half the weather will be fairly well distributed.

Pittsburgh, General Manager Hines, of the Southern Pacific Company, ordered an Elmhurst railroad official north by rail and he has gone that way. Arrangements have been made for transportation by the Glacier for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Mrs. David Gibson and five small children. The Americans reported removed to the warships are the families of prominent Americans for whom anxiety has been felt for some time. The Glacier will sail northward to-day or to-morrow, and the Pittsburgh will follow later.

Will Attack Nuevo Laredo. Eagle Pass, Tex., August 10.—It was learned to-day that the concentration of Constitutional forces preparatory to an attack on Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, is under way. One detachment, it is stated, is en route from Piedras Negras, revolutionary headquarters, to the point where the attacking force is to be assembled and 200 men who reached Piedras Negras early to-day from Hermanos and Sattillo, are awaiting orders to move toward Laredo. It is rumored that Federal troops have started from Nuevo Laredo to engage the rebels outside the city.

ATTEMPT TO STORM ASQUITH'S HOUSE

Militant Suffragettes Roughly Beaten Back by Police.

London, August 10.—The third attempt of suffragettes, under command of Sylvia Pankhurst, to take Premier Asquith's house in Downing Street by storm failed to-day when the militant leader, was cornered by police after a stiff fight, in which the officers used their clubs.

The trouble began after a mass-meeting under the auspices of the Free Speech Defense Committee called to demand the unconditional release of George Lansbury, former Socialist member of the House of Commons, who was sentenced July 30 to three months' imprisonment for making inflammatory speeches, but was released August 2 under the "cat and mouse" act while on a "hunger strike."

Miss Pankhurst had refused an invitation to address this meeting when informed she would not be permitted to urge her hearers to march upon Downing Street. Free speech orators addressed the crowd and the police used their clubs to break up the demonstration. There is not one word for the police and another for the laity. There is not one word for the police and another for the laity. There is not one word for the police and another for the laity.

"The Apostle St. Paul pays the following beautiful tribute to the Christians of Thessalonica: 'You became followers of us and of the Lord, receiving the word of the gospel with joy of the Holy Ghost, so that you were made a pattern to all who believe in Macedonia and Achaia—and in every place your faith, which is toward God, is known.'"

"May we not with propriety apply the words of the apostle to our federated societies, whose good works extend to the length and breadth of the United States? And if I may single out one society without prejudice to the merits of the others, I will name in a particular manner that which is organized in this city, the Columbus. They are our joy and crown. They are the glory of Jerusalem; they are the joy of Israel; wherever columns of incense rise, they are ever ready, like true knights, to smite the enemy. Whenever an appeal is made in the cause of religion, they are the first to respond, and in lending a helping hand."

"Brethren of the laity, we of the clergy need your help. We learn from the history of the primitive church that what valuable aid the clergy rendered to the apostles in the propagation of the gospel. And if the apostles, with all their piety, zeal and courage, were ever ready to spread the light of truth without your hearty co-operation?"

"How then are you to co-operate with us? In the first place, by the open and manly profession of your faith, by being always ready to satisfy every one that asketh you a reason for that hope which is in you. You will be content with nothing less than the truth, and you will be content with nothing less than the truth, and you will be content with nothing less than the truth."

A CHEAP TRIP TO THE MOUNTAINS OF SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA. On August 19 the Norfolk and Western Railway will run a very cheap excursion from Richmond to Bristol, stopping at all principal points, beginning with Lynchburg. The round trip fare to Lynchburg will be $2.00; to Roanoke, $3.00; to Bristol, $5.00, and proportionately low rates to other points west of Roanoke. A special train will leave Richmond 10:40 A. M. on August 19, arriving Bristol 9:50 P. M.

The return trip will be made on August 22, leaving Bristol 9:30 A. M. and Roanoke 1:30 P. M., and Lynchburg 3:00 P. M. Plenty of coaches will be provided, so that every one will have a comfortable seat. A special excursion through the Shenandoah Valley has been arranged for August 29. This will start from Lynchburg on that morning, stopping at all stations between there and Roanoke, and then to Natural Bridge, Grottoes and Luray. Tickets will be sold for this excursion at extremely low rates.

Cause for Glory. "If the Roman was proud of being a citizen of Rome, how much more should you glory in being citizens of the Republic of the Church? Do you seek for antiquity of origin? Nearly 2,000 years have rolled over her head, and she is to-day fresh and vigorous as when she issued from the Cenece of Jerusalem. Time writes no wrinkles on her heavenly brow."

"Do you seek for wide expansion of territory? Her spiritual dominion extends over the surface of the globe. And where will you find a wisdom comparable to that of her saints, a wisdom which is born not of man but of God? Where will you find a heroism so sublime as that of her martyrs? Theirs is a heroism not aroused by the sound of martial music or by the clash of arms, but by the voice of a just law for fame or by the voice of comrades, but by a heroism inspired by a love for God and their fellow-beings."

"Above all, you can co-operate with us by the rectitude of your private lives and the influence of your good example. Having your conversation good among the Gentiles, that whereas they speak of you as evildoers, considering you by the good example which you give, they may glorify God in the day of visitation." Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in heaven."

Protestant System in Collapse. Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Iowa, in his sermon at the celebration of Pontifical Mass at the cathedral, declared that "the Protestant system of religious truth has collapsed, while the Catholic people never rejoiced in the consciousness of an intenser realization in the facts of faith, and never felt the strings of their devotion so tightly drawn as they do to-day."

He declared the Protestant Church had been unable to abide "the successive strokes of Biblical criticism or to survive longer the killing analysis of its fundamental principles." "The masses of men in non-Catholic communities and in our own country," he said, "are no longer content with a 'recite no creed and own no dogma' affiliation. It is clear that the great conflict of thought must be fought not between carrying forms of Christian faith, nor between Protestant sects and unbelief, but between the Catholic Church and the world spirit of the near future."

He sounded a note of warning in reference to the gradual spread of a "secularist intellectual atmosphere." Archbishop Keane declared that the Catholic societies' convention had no political program, and that "there is no present or prospective crisis which could make the creation of a Catholic party possible."

The first day's exercises closed with a sacred concert given by the choirs of churches in the city. There were more than 1,000 voices in the chorus.

MEXICO: SAMPLE OF FORCES DISUNITED

His influence is paramount and irresistible when the voice of the bishop and clergy is re-echoed by the multitude of earnest workers assembled before me to-day. Then, indeed, we form a tight compact which cannot be broken. We establish a triple alliance far more formidable and enduring than the triple alliance of earthly potentates, for theirs is an alliance only of flesh and blood, but ours is an alliance cemented by the divine virtues of faith, hope and charity."

"And why, my brethren, should you not cooperate with us? We are not all, clergy and laity, children of the same Heavenly Father? Are we not all brothers and sisters of the same Jesus Christ? Has He not died for you as for me? Has He not shed His precious blood for you as for me? Has He not much care of you as He has for me? Are we not all sanctified by the same spirit? There are diversities of gifts, says the apostle, but the same Lord, the same Father, the same God, the same Father, the same God, the same Father, the same God."

All in Same Bark. "We are all in the same bark of Peter, tossed about by the same storms and sharing the same sunshine. Your interests are our interests. We are all steering our course toward the same goal. We are all heirs prospective of the same heavenly Kingdom. There is not one reward for the priest and another for the laity. There is not one kind of crown for the Pope and another for the priest. The three words of the Pope and the bishop will not shine more brightly than the widow's hood in the kingdom of heaven, unless they are adorned with the jewels of charity."

PRICE STORM CARRIES DEATH AND DESOLATION

stones, everything frail or weak fell in its path.

The worst accident reported was in Fairmont Park, where a band pavilion near George's Hall collapsed, catching at least 200 persons in the ruins. They had taken refuge from the storm in the pavilion. A baby is dead, and fifteen injured persons are in the local hospitals.

More than 100 injured managed to drag themselves to their homes. Only the fact that the pavilion was of light construction, without any real heavy joists, prevented a terrible catastrophe. Agnes Murphy, twenty-two years old, was killed at City Line by a falling tree, under which she took refuge.

James McNamee, eleven months old, was killed by a falling tree at Forty-ninth Street and Lancaster Avenue. Patrick McNamee, the baby's father, was injured.

Several other deaths are reported, but not verified.

Automobile Wrecked. At the height of the storm a large sight-seeing automobile, carrying a crowd of picnickers, was being pushed to its utmost to get the gay merry-makers under cover. The wind blew the flowing tie of the driver into his face. He lost control for an instant, and the big machine was thrown into a tree. Seven of the merry-makers were injured.

Mattie L. Meriner was drowned at Port Richmond. Her male companions were endeavoring to get ashore when the gusty wind from her support and had not been recovered. Her companions are under arrest.

The entire length of Market Street from the Pennsylvania Station to the City Hall was closed. The wind tore the awnings from the buildings of the Franklyn Trust Company building, at Fifth, tenth and Market Streets.

Roofs of eleven houses in the neighborhood of Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth Streets and the neighborhood of the Pennsylvania Station were blown off. The wind tore the awnings from the buildings of the Franklyn Trust Company building, at Fifth, tenth and Market Streets.

A tower on the Broad and Filbert Street side of the Pennsylvania Station was blown off. The wind tore the awnings from the buildings of the Franklyn Trust Company building, at Fifth, tenth and Market Streets.

The telephone exchanges are almost at a standstill. To 30 per cent. of the calls, the answer is, "wire out of order." The entire length of Market Street from the Pennsylvania Station to the City Hall was closed.

Country Laid Waste. Reports from the outlying districts show that the storm was even worse than in Philadelphia. These reports are meagre, and are being obtained chiefly from passengers on belated trains. Early reports show a number of the magnificent homes in the suburbs and along the main lines are wrecks. All of the fine greenhouses are reported to have been laid waste by the hail and the high winds. Properties are reported to have been unroofed. Later reports may show these earlier calamities to have been exaggerated.

Atlantic City, up to a late hour, was cut off absolutely from Philadelphia. Prior to the storm, Philadelphia was suffering with the mercury ranging from 92 to 94 degrees, and the humidity at its very highest. The streets were almost deserted, the entire population apparently remaining indoors in negligence of the heat which had been reported, and the prostrations are numerous.

Just before 4 o'clock, day was turned into night. There was a shrill whistle from the city. This was followed by the hail and rain. For half an hour it continued, later to let up for about half an hour, and then to be renewed with fresh vigor. The second storm lasted from 8 o'clock, when the city began to take count of its losses of life and property. The latter, based on a conservative estimate, will reach more than $1,000,000 in Philadelphia and its near suburbs.

No Relief From Heat. Kansas City, Mo., August 10.—Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma saw no relief to-day from the extremely hot weather. Temperatures above 100 were recorded at every point reporting. No rain fell during the day. The highest temperature in Kansas reported to-day was 110 degrees at Great Bend. At that place to-night clouds were said to be gathering, and a shower of good rain soon. Many places report temperatures of 105 and 108 degrees.

sees. Topeka recorded 101 degrees. The maximum temperature in Kansas City was 100.2. Several Missouri points reported 104.

Since last Sunday Kansas has been in the centre of the heat wave. The mercury rose to 98 and above last Sunday. It was 101 Monday, 103 Tuesday, 101 Wednesday, 104 Thursday, 103 Friday and 101 Saturday. This breaks all August consecutive heat records for that State since the weather department was established twenty-five years ago.

May 30 the thermometer indicated 100. Cool periods followed heat waves through June. In July the heat was terrific for days at a time. August brought the State parched with drought. All the creeks in the State are dry and most of the rivers.

Reports received from reliable sources throughout Kansas indicate that the damage is not very great. It would appear from the unusual conditions. Thousands of silos are scattered over the State, and these rob the drought of some of its terrors.

Heavy Rains Bring Relief. Chicago, August 10.—Heavy rains through the Northern Central States and the Lake Region brought relief from the intense heat to-day. The rain didn't extend far enough South, however, to benefit the corn belt of Southern Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri. These States, which have been baking under the most extreme heat, received no relief, and temperatures which have stood around 100 for more than a week showed no signs of lowering.

here to-night is that General Huerta has been rebuked by the Mexican populace of the better class, for the demonstration failed to develop the enthusiasm that had been promised by the Provisional President's friends.

As a manifestation of confidence in the encouragement for Huerta, the whole fair fell flat. The "viva" marked the triumphal entry of Francisco I. Madero after he had crushed Porfirio Diaz were completely lacking.

During the entire parade there was no evidence of an American feeling. It is believed that the leaders were warned that the relations between this country and the United States were too tense to permit any outbreak at the present time. Dispatches received last night from Washington announcing that Envoy Lind had received no definite instructions except to investigate carefully the situation in Mexico are believed to have done much to lessen the wrath of the fiery Mexicans, who had thought he was coming here to run the country.

During the parade to-day's parade, aptly put it, "If it had not been for the music the whole affair would have been taken for a funeral procession."

The only unusual thing connected with the demonstration was that the marchers were not guarded by police-men. This is believed to be the first time in Mexican history that such precaution has been taken.

Americans were sprinkled among the sightseers, but did not make themselves conspicuous in seeking the best view of the spectacle as they had done often in the past.

come back in time for the sailors to have their Christmas dinner. The fleet will not go to Mexico after its Mediterranean cruise."

It was also pointed out that the American fleet at Vera Cruz, consisting of the battleships New Hampshire, Michigan and gunboats Wheeling, is very strong, and if Admiral Fletcher wished to do so he could land a strong force with the men available.

Disregard Threats. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) John Lind, minister to Mexico, is expected to investigate conditions in Mexico, left for Mexico City at 6 o'clock this morning. He was accompanied by his wife. They were due at the capital about 8 o'clock this evening.

Neither the envoy nor Mrs. Lind showed any nervousness, despite the rumors that had reached here that Mr. Wilson's health was failing.

Lind might be attacked on the train bearing him to the capital.

Mr. Lind refused to state whether he had received any fresh instructions from Washington, but he said he believed it was believed he had been given such instructions with code dispatches warning him of the attitude taken by General Huerta and advising him to take every step in his power to avoid increasing the tension.

"There is absolutely nothing I can say as to my actions and plans," he stated to The Times-Dispatch representative.

"I shall be guided by circumstances. I cannot tell how long I shall stay."

The latter part of his statement indicated that he had been given latitude by President Wilson and had been told to stay until he was absolutely sure of his facts as regards the situation.

The conference which Mr. Lind had here with William Bayard Hale saved him a vast amount of preliminary work, and it is made at least a preliminary report that he had acquired the envoy with all the facts that he had learned during his stay in Mexico City.

If the treatment accorded Mr. Lind in Vera Cruz may be taken as a forecast of that he will receive in Mexico City, the United States need have no concern over his personal safety.

His stay here was unmarked by any attitude of hatred on the part of the public, either at the United States consulate, where he conferred with Consul Canada, or at the Hotel Terminal, where Mr. and Mrs. Lind passed the night.

There were few persons at the station when they took up the last stars of their journey.
